

Open call for project applications

Kosovo 2.0, along with its partners in the Reporting Diversity Network (RDN), have opened a call for project proposals aiming to counter hate speech and improve representation of diversity.

The Call was opened as part of the RDN, which was established with the objective of effectively influencing media representation of ethnicity, religion and gender in the Western Balkans. RDN aims to activate the role of civil society in countering the narratives of division and replacing them with a much-needed positive discourse contributing to the value of good neighbouring relations and respect for social diversity.

The Call for Proposals will be publicized with the overall objective of increasing the influence of civil society organisations (CSOs) on media reporting shaping perceptions of ethnicity, religion and gender in the Western Balkans.

The specific objectives of the call will be to:

- Strengthen the position of local CSOs in safeguarding their beneficiaries' rights in the media.
- Provide opportunities for local CSOs to influence public perceptions and respond to hateful and harmful narratives contributing to polarisation.
- Increase the number and quality of messages conveyed to the audience to diminish the effect of polarising narratives.
- Improve visibility and media representation of women and minority rights' issues.
- Contribute to the positive perceptions of "the other" and tolerance and inclusion in the region.

The types of actions eligible for funding include, but are not limited to, the following. Additional activities may be considered, provided they contribute to the above-mentioned objectives:

- a) Advocacy and awareness-raising campaigns;
- b) Production of media content;
- c) Creation of campaigns countering hateful narratives in the public sphere;
- e) Consultations, roundtables and meetings with local stakeholders;
- f) Facilitating policy dialogue with stakeholders (e.g., political parties, local officials, expert community, media).

All activities must take place in the country where the organisation is registered.

The project timeframe is a maximum of nine months.

The overall budget for the programme is 30,000 euros per country. Five projects per country in the Western Balkans will be supported, with the anticipated size of grants being a minimum of 5,000 euros and a maximum of 7,000 euros.

CSOs responding to this call must meet the following criteria:

- That they are registered with the Department for Registration of Non-Governmental Organisations, the Ministry of Internal Affairs (Law on Freedom of Associations and Non-Governmental Organisations) and that they have settled all legal obligations;
- Have experience in the field of representation of diversity and/or hate speech;
- Be directly responsible for project preparation and management;
- That their bank account is not blocked;
- That the organisation is not a beneficiary of funds from the EU Civil Society Facility and Media Programme in favour of the Western Balkans and Turkey for 2021-2023 (IPA III), budget line: 15.020101.01
- Organisations can submit only one project proposal under this call, as an applicant or as a partner

We welcome applications from a diverse range of CSOs, including: grassroots organisations, members of larger-scale networks acting nationally or regionally and media established as CSOs.

CSOs that have an established partnership with local media will be considered as an advantage and will ensure additional points in the evaluation process.

A one-day training regarding the rules and procedures for the implementation of EU grants will be organised for selected grant recipients. The training will cover topics such as: project management, visibility rules, financial reporting etc.

In addition, selected CSOs will be provided with mentoring support to assist them in conducting creative media campaigns to raise public awareness as well as in managing project activities.

We invite all interested organisations to fill in the application forms (attached).

The deadline for submitting the application is May 31. Applications must be submitted in English only.

Please submit your question to applications@ktwopointzero.com by May 9.

Please submit your proposal to applications@ktwopointzero.com by May 31.

The evaluation criteria:

- 1) Relevance of the proposal to the objectives of the Call for Proposals and relevance of the proposal to meet the needs of the target groups; (30 points)
- 2) Effectiveness and feasibility of the action — clear links and consistency between objectives, estimated results, proposed activities and strategy; (20 points)
- 3) Financial and operational capacity to autonomously undertake the proposed activities — an elementary level of organisational and managerial capacity will need to be demonstrated; (20 points)
- 4) Impact and stakeholders' involvement — proposals must be feasible and indicators objectively verifiable (number of citizens that will be involved in the action); (10 points)
- 5) Involvement of vulnerable groups and gender-related issues — proposals need to take into consideration the needs of vulnerable groups; (5 points)
- 6) Follow-up — proposals clearly stating how this project will align with their organisations' plans and future activities. (5 points)
- 7) Budget and cost-effectiveness of the action – the ratio between estimated cost and expected results must be satisfactory (10 points)

The Evaluation Committee will pay attention to the geographic and thematic diversity of the grants, while respecting the principles of equal opportunities and inclusiveness.

Note: Kosovo 2.0 may request additional documentation no later than eight days after the deadline for submission.

Applications will be reviewed by an independent Evaluation Committee.
